19 May: Police are appealing for information after a boy was approached in Warrawee last week.

Just after 3pm (Friday 16 May 2014), a ten-year-old boy was walking west along Fox Valley Road when a white four-door sedan approached him. The male driver spoke to the boy briefly, and the boy ran to a nearby school to alert teachers. Officers from Kuring Gai Local Area Command were informed of the incident and commenced investigations. As they continue their inquiries, police would like to speak to a man who may be able to assist them with their inquiries.

He is described as being of African appearance, about 40-years-old, of medium build and with dark skin, short dark curly hair, and a clean-shaven face.

Police are urging anyone with information about this incident to call Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000 or use the Crime Stoppers online reporting page: <https://www.police.nsw.gov.au/>. Information you provide will be treated in the strictest of confidence. We remind people they should not report crime information via our Facebook and Twitter pages.

Meanwhile, the incident has again prompted police to encourage parents to discuss the “Safe People, Safe Places”™ messages with their children, including;

- Make sure your parents or another adult you know knows where you are at all times.
 - Always walk straight home or to the place you are walking to. Walk near busier roads and streets, or use paths where there are lots of other people.
 - Know where safe places are – a shop, service station, police station, library or school. If you are ever frightened, you should go to one of these places and ask them to call the police.
 - Learn about safe adults you can look for and talk to if you need help – police officers, teachers at school, adults you know and trust.
 - Don't talk to people you don't know and never get into a car with someone you don't know. If a car stops on the side of the road and you don't know the person inside, do not stop.
 - If you are scared and can use a phone, call 000 and tell them you are scared.
 - If someone tries to grab you, yell out, "Go away, I don't know you". This lets other people know you have been approached by someone you don't know.

Yellow Edge Lines - What do they mean?

Some councils use unbroken yellow edge lines on the side of roads to denote No Stopping zones. These painted yellow lines are more durable, easier to maintain and have less impact on the visual appearance of an area than road signs.

A driver MUST NOT STOP at the side of a road marked with a continuous yellow edge line.

These areas need to be kept clear so that drivers and pedestrians have an unimpeded view of each other and road safety is maintained. Police and Council parking officers can enforce this road rule, without any other road signs or indications required.

You can check out Rule 169 of the Road Rules (No Stopping on a road with a yellow edge line) and all of the road rules at www.rms.nsw.gov.au

READER QUESTIONS/ANSWERS SHARED

1. What should I do at an intersection with a zebra crossing at the stop line?

Entering blocked crossings

Drivers approaching an intersection without traffic lights can stop on a pedestrian crossing immediately before the intersection if the crossing is not blocked, but only after giving way to pedestrians using the crossing. This is to allow drivers to check for traffic at an intersection.

Penalty: 2 demerit points (3 in a school zone) and $232 ($298 in a school zone)

2. I heard you have to indicate when moving more than 1 metre within your side of the road - is that correct? Yes, you do have to indicate, but only when moving over more than the width of your car (average width is 1.8m).

Extract from the RMS Driving Testing Officer's Manual: "A signal is only required when buffering if a lane line or marked centre line needs to be crossed in the process, or the car diverges more than one car width (of the car you are in)."

NSW Fair Trading - Call on 13 32 20 to discuss your situation and we can give you some options.

Advice from our Crime Prevention Officer, Snr Con Paul Cleary, talking on Triple H Community Radio 100.1 FM last Wednesday afternoon:

What should we do if we witness an incident, such as a robbery?

Stand back. Call Triple Zero (000). Take note of details, such as car rego numbers, offender's physical appearance and clothing, etc and relay this information to the operator. Be reassured the operator is trained to calm you and lead you through the details. Let the police do their work. Assist the citizen affected (if not putting yourself at risk).

What should we do if we witness a car accident?

It is up to the drivers to report the accident. However, an independent witness account may be useful. Note where, the date, time, description of cars, etc. Give your details and state that you are prepared to give a statement.

What should we do if we see a person climbing through someone's window?

It may, or may not be a crime. Anything suspicious ring the police. If you've seen someone walking down several driveways and knocking on doors, this may be legitimate. But if you see them walking down the side of a house, or into the back of a property, that would be suspicious and you should call 000. If they are knocking on doors and come to your door, asking for a glass of water, or to make a phone call, they could be casing the area. Ring the police.

Michael Christie, whose son Daniel was killed after being punched in Kings Cross, has called on parents, young people and law makers to change the role of alcohol in society.

Speaking through grief and to prevent another young life from being taken too soon, he supported a rethink of the legal drinking age and called on drinkers to take more responsibility, at an alcohol violence forum on Monday night in Gordon. "It's not turning in to a wowser, but is (a drinking age of) 18 something that needs to be looked at?" he said. A modest crowd of parents attended the event, at Ku-ring-gai council chambers.

DRINK SPIKING - MYTH #3

The drugs used to spike drinks are tasteless, colourless and odourless, making them almost impossible to detect by the drinker.

Most tablets are made up of largely insoluble materials that leave a noticeable sediment in the glass. Some drugs have a strong smell and a strong taste, making them potentially easier to notice. Relatively tasteless alcohol, such as vodka or tequila, may not be easily detected by a drinker when added to another alcoholic or strongly-flavoured drink.

Police happened to be driving by and spoke to the man who allegedly blew a positive alcohol reading. He was taken to Gordon station where he allegedly returned a 0.211 per cent reading. He will appear at North Sydney local court on May 26.

KILLARA At least four businesses were broken into on Koola Ave between 9pm on Sunday, May 11, and 3.30am Monday, May 12. The shops included the bakery, the butchery, the hair salon and the Chinese restaurant.
